U. S. PLANES HIT BERLIN FOURTH TIME

COUNTY SPORTS CLUB-HOUSE PLANS MAPPED

Offers of Land for Site Considered at Game Association Session.

Location of a proposed clubhouse was discussed Tuesday night when the Marion County Fish and Game association met at Eagles' hall. Answers to an advertisement concerning land for the club were given to members and several tracts were under discussion. Among offers considered were of land near Upper Sandusky, La Rue, Green Camp and the former McNamara riding academy south of Marion. Officials of the club are seeking about 10 acres of land not usable for farming, which has water suitable for fishing and sufficient open space to accommodate an archery range and trap shooting plots.

A committee named Tuesday night to investigate offers consists of Ed Selanders, Wesley Amspoker, John Jolley and Luther Mosher. Further discussion of the plan will be held at the next meeting of the association and officials have asked all members interested in the project to attend. Tentative plans have met with general favor among members contacted so far, and plans are being fashioned for all around activities that should interest hunters and fishermen alike, it was explained.

Luther Olds of Columbus, assistant to the chief of the game management section of the state division of conservation, was guest speaker. Mr. Olds discussed deer hunting in Ohio, explaining that 8,000 deer hunting permits were issued last year for hunters on the Roosevelt game preserve and in surrounding counties and only 200 deer were taken.

A special request was received for a fox hunt at the Adams hatchery east of Claridon. The request stated that the hunt could be held regardless of conditions of the field. Only severe weather conditions will cancel the hunt, which is scheduled for Saturday morning.

HARDING HIGH BOND DRIVE IS OVER GOAL

Harding High school's "Buy A Plane" war bond drive went over the top in sales today at the school. Purchases of $675 worth of bonds pushed total sales for the campaign beyond the $15,000 goal by $312. Sales through pupils amounted to $300. Near the end of the sales a friend of the school called and purchased a $500 bond, which boosted the drive to success. This was the last day of the drive.

An Army Air corps training plane will soon be teaching pilots for combat duty because the Harding bond drive was a success. In a previous drive the school purchased more than enough bonds to buy three jeeps which bore the inscription, "Harding High School, 1, 2 and 3," when they were taken from the assembly line to take an active part in military operations.

Miss Isabelle Stump, faculty advisor for the drive, said a report of the campaign would be sent to state War Loan headquarters for recognition by the treasury department. Another drive will be started soon, she said but it will be of a different nature from the two drives already staged by the pupils with the aid of the student council bond committee consisting of Arlene Hill, chairman, Frank DeSanto, Elizabeth Kerns and Bob England.

The next drive is planned to last until the end of the school year and will be set up with material supplied by the treasury department for use by public schools in furthering bond sales in the school and community.

The student council committee expressed their special thanks to Marionites having no connection with the school who assisted in carrying the drive over with their purchases of War Bonds through school salesmen during and after the Four to War Loan drive.

Reds Roll Nazis Back Despite Almost Endless Sea of Mud

Soviets Hitch Sleds to Tanks To Plow Through Mire Caused By Early Spring Thaw.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 8—Russia's first Ukrainian army fought today against some of the worst ground conditions of the Russian-German conflict but still the Red forces rolled on, seizing a firm hold on the Odessa-Warsaw railway and moving within 70 miles of the important industrial and rail city of Lwow.

In a mire of mud, the Russians have plowed on, resorting to the use of long lines of sledges hitched behind tanks. Tommy-gunners were piled into the sledges and tanks, which cut through the muddy Ukrainian fields to reach the roads behind the enemy lines.

Field dispatches said the Germans had congregated large forces of infantry and tanks, seeking to hold their communication lines in the Ukraine.

On top of the warmest winter in many years, a sudden spring thaw has turned the Ukraine into thousands of square miles of very heavy, sticky mud.

Russians Take Igrovitsa

Despite the heavy going, Russian spearheads yesterday captured the town of Igrovitsa, nine miles northwest of Tarnopol and only four miles from the Warsaw railway, a Russian communique announced. Other forces operating west of Tarnopol actually severed the line in two places 20 miles apart—at Kochanovka, five miles south of Volchisk and Zelentsy, 15 miles west of Proskurov.

Yesterday's advance liberated 200 more localities, Moscow announced. The Germans' strong infantry and tank forces were hurled back, leaving more than 1,000 dead on the battlefield, the Russians said. Numerous pieces of war equipment, including 60 tanks, were destroyed or captured and many prisoners taken, the Soviet bulletin added.

Speed 20 Miles a Day

The Red army advance in this sector, now in its fourth day, was averaging more than 20 miles a day, in some areas as much as 30 miles, according to Moscow advices.

The capture yesterday of Podvolochisk extended the Russian-held sector of the Odessa-Warsaw railway to 26 miles, with its western end about 25 miles east of Tarnopol. In this sector, Russian troops are approximately 60 miles from the Rumanian frontier.

On the Baltic front, Moscow reported arrival of heavy German air reinforcements in the Narva sector. Fifty-five German planes were reported shot down yesterday and 500 Nazi troops killed.

FATHER, SON UNDER ARREST

Accused of Staging Fake Fight and Robbing Man of $1,300.

A Marion father and son were bound over to the grand jury on robbery charges, with the victim declaring that they had staged a fake fight to delude him before taking $1,300 from him.

The charges are against John Coffman, 43, and son Robert, 21, of 384 Quarry street, accused of attacking Lloyd Fuller, who lives at the Milner Hotel, and taking the money from him early Monday morning at West Center and Waterloo streets. Fuller operates the Busy Bee confectionery on North Main street.

His story to police was that he and the father had been together, had a few drinks and that later the son, called by telephone by the father, joined them. Then the son left. Fuller said he then decided to call a cab, but the father urged him to walk at least part of the way home.

He said he and the senior Coffman and two women acquaintances were walking along the street when a man whom he identified as the son leaped out and attacked the elder Coffman. He said the women ran, and as the staged "fight" progressed he soon became convinced that father and son were not fighting each other but were both working on him. At any rate, after the confusion was over, his $1,300 was gone, he told police.

The Coffman father and son were brought in and questioned, and later police went to the Coffman home and reported finding $1,260 in $20 bills in several hiding places.

Then the charges were filed and the father and son arraigned in municipal court yesterday. The son pleaded guilty, the father not guilty. The two women, also taken into custody in the investigation, were released.

HEAVY RAIN CLOSES ROADS BUT IS BOON TO FARMERS

Southern Ohio Hit; Scioto River Goes Out of Banks.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 8 — This week's heavy rainfall, generally welcomed by Ohio farmers plagued by a winter drouth, closed many roads in southern counties of the state today and threatened to inundate some residential areas.

Meteorologist George W. Mindling said Circleville would have a 15 foot crest today, one foot over flood stage, as the Scioto went out of banks, and that Piketon would have 20 feet of water, five above flood stage. Chillicothe is expected to get about 15 feet where flood level is 16 feet.

Elmer Kruse, Ohio AAA and agricultural war board chairman, said Monday night heavy rainfall might "make" the 1944 wheat harvest. Two months ago the outlook was discouraging, he said, but added snow and rainfall since then led him to predict a better yield than 1943's sub-par crop.

Marion County Wins Praise for Fourth War Loan Record

Marion county Fourth War Loan workers and people who bought bonds to help put the county over the top won praise from local and state War Finance committee officials at a dinner meeting for the county committee chairmen last night in Hotel Harding.

Phil J. Trounstine, state chairman, and John Burge, chairman for a 26-county area that includes Marion, were among the guests, and both spoke highly of Marion county's record in the war bond program since its beginning, particularly in the Fourth War Loan.

John Saltz, director of publicity for the state committee, was among the guests.

The meeting was an informal one, with a dozen different men speaking briefly, reviewing the last campaign and discussing possible changes in campaign procedure. One of the topics was when the next war loan is expected, and State Chairman Trounstine said there has been no indication from Washington when the next one is likely to be held.

Workers Praised

Chairman E. J. Schoenlaub of the county's War Finance committee and Robert E. White, Fourth War Loan chairman, thanked individually all of the unit chairman at the dinner meeting, and praised in general the job done by the Marion county workers.

Chester C. Roberts, head of the corporations division, gave a review of the highlights of the Fourth War Loan, emphasizing that after a two-week campaign of "straight selling," it was apparent that extra promotional features would be necessary to sell "extra" bonds to make the county's E bond quota. As a result, the theater bond show and "Back Your Buddy" campaigns were launched to sell extra bonds to persons who already had made purchases, he said, adding that while this created some confusion and brought some criticism, the events made it possible for the county to go over its E bond goal.

Tentative arrangements were made for the committee chairmen and factory committee representatives to meet prior to the next campaign to discuss sales methods in detail and agree on a plan of procedure ahead of time.

137 Get Citations

In connection with the recognition dinner, Chairman Schoenlaub announced that 137 persons who did outstanding jobs in the Fourth War Loan had received personal citations. These are now being distributed through the War Finance committee office.

STRIKERS RETURNING TO GENERAL PLANT

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 8 — CIO United Rubber Worker unionists heeded a war labor board order today and started back to their jobs at the General Tire & Rubber Co., where tire production was halted for more than 30 hours by a walkout resulting from intra-union strife.

General spokesmen said about 65 per cent of the first shift reported for work during the morning, and "some departments are operating as normal." The strike started at the second shift Monday and virtually paralyzed passenger car and truck tire building operations.

Sherman H. Dalrymple, international president of the CIO United Rubber Workers of America said he expected all employes would be back on their jobs for the second shift.

The WLB telegraphed a back-to-work order yesterday, and resident Conciliator Paul Fuller declared last night the board would turn the matter over to President Roosevelt with a recommendation the government take over the plant, if work were not resumed.

Howard Haas, a former General local union president, said the walkout was a protest against hi discharge and that of Ray Sullivan, also a former union leader.

MARION AIR FIGHTER GETS FIVE AWARDS

Lt. J. E. Gunder Given Series of Oak Leaf Clusters.

Lt. J. E. Gunder, who figured in war news recently when he downed two Jap planes in one day in the South Pacific, has been awarded five additional oak leaf clusters to add to his air medal. Gunder shot down the planes over Bougainville Island and returned to his base with his own plane riddled by enemy fire.

Dates on the notices of the citations released by the Army Air force in the South Pacific are from Oct. 22 to Oct. 27, Oct. 28 to Nov. 2, from Nov. 12 to Dec. 23 last year, Jan. 1 to Jan. 12 and Jan. 13 to Jan. 20 this year.

According to the release, Oak Leaf clusters were awarded for "meritorious achievement while participating in sustained combat operational missions, and when flights are of a hazardous nature during which there was traversed an area where enemy anti-aircraft fire is effective, or where enemy planes or exposure to enemy fire is habitually encountered."

According to a letter received by Lt. Gunder's brother Gene, he was due to receive the Air medal and three Oak Leaf clusters after his first mission, which ended in December. The release was the first word that the family had received about the decorations.

Lt. Gunder, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gunder of 347 West Center street, recently sent a Jap battle flag and part of a Jap plane home as souvenirs. Before entering the Army in October, 1941, he was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school and attended Dayton college, Dayton, O. In a cablegram received from Lt. Gunder last week he explained that he was on leave in New Zealand and that he was well. He has been overseas since August, last year.

Mr. Armstrong, a college graduate and for eight years an employe of the Lucas county treasurer's office in Toledo, was a candidate for the office two years ago. He formerly was employed in recent months at the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

GUN DUELS BLAZE IN CASSINO AREA

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 8—Gunfire, mortar and grenade duels raged for the second straight night in shell-torn Cassino on the main Fifth army front, headquarters announced today.

New Zealand siege guns hammered at a German held rail station about a mile south of Cassino while American troops west of Cisterna on the beachhead engaged in a fierce machinegun and mortar duel with the Nazis, but there was no change in positions.

Discussing German movements behind the lines headquarters said the Nazis "appear to be on the watch for any opening in our forward positions."

Foul weather, however, continued to hamper the ground fighting and the communique declared "heavy snow in the mountains and deep mud in the valleys have made all movements difficult."

BISMARCK SEA CAMPAIGN NOW NEAR FINISH

By The Associated Press

Sixth Army troops in the southwest Pacific are filling in the details implied by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's statement a week ago that "the end of the Bismarck campaign is now clearly in sight."

Today's allied communique reported Sixth Army units have gained control of Los Negros island in the Admiralty groups, have leap-frogged up the north coast of New Britain to within 170 airline miles of Rabaul and have driven up the south coast of New Britain to within 30 airline miles of Gasmata.

No Naval Assistance

Covered by an air umbrella but not by naval bombardment, first division Marines attached to Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth Army swarmed ashore Monday at Willaumez peninsula on New Britain's north coast and immediately drove toward Talasea, five miles distant, where the Japanese once had an emergency landing strip. Rifle fire was the only opposition to the landing.

Sixth Army infantrymen who landed at Arawe on New Britain's south coast Dec. 15 launched an offensive which has carried them 24 miles up the coast toward Gasmata, once-important Japanese supply and emergency air base.

Momote airdrome, quickly-won prize of the admiralty islands invasion Feb. 29, has been repaired and now is ready for full-scale use by American planes, MacArthur communiqued.

Rabaul Hit Again

Heavy Liberator bombers split through intense anti-aircraft fire to unload 98 tons of explosives on Rabaul Sunday.

Jaws of a trap set by U. S. infantrymen and American-trained Chinese troops are closing rapidly on enemy forces in Burma's Hukawng valley. Japan's communication lines have been severed and an enemy force isolated when the main Hukawng valley base of Maingkwan fell is suffering "extremely heavy casualties," Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell communiqued.

In the central Pacific, Japanese bases at Ponape and Kusaie in the eastern Caroline islands caught a 30-ton blasting. Nauru island southeast of Kusaie was bombed and four undesignated atolls in the eastern Marshall islands were hit with 35 tons of bombs. Two planes were lost in all raids.

NEW BLOOD DONOR RECORD SET HERE

190 Pints Contributed at Center Yesterday.

Registrants flocked to the Blood Donor Center yesterday—203 of them—making a new record of 190 pints of blood donated.

On the previous day, 175 pints were taken, one over the daily quota. Miss Esther Guthery, chairman of registrations, said today that people had to be turned away yesterday because the unit could not take care of all the applicants. She explained that the center couldn't stay open in the evenings as so many persons have requested, because the blood must be returned to Columbus and shipped to Indianapolis where it is processed before the time limit is up. The processing must be started within a few hours after the donations are received and because of this the unit must leave early enough to connect with a train leaving Columbus at about 8 p. m.

Universal Cooler employes were being taken today from opening of the unit at 10 a. m. until it closed at 2:30 p. m. Taking of these blood donations occupied the unit's entire day, the last of its three-day stay here.

Registered nurses from Marion who have assisted during the stay are: Mrs. Flora Marshman and Mrs. Wilma Atkinson, Monday; Mrs. Nettie Geissler and Mrs. Mary Axe Brown, Tuesday; Mrs. Alma Ruth Gillis, Mrs. Clara Haley and Mrs. Ethyl Merchant were on duty today.

SEEK TO PROVE COLLETT ALIBI

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., March 8—Defense counsel for James W. Collett, on trial for his life in the triple McCoy slayings last Thanksgiving eve, called a series of witnesses today to establish a time chart in an attempt to prove Collett was not at the McCoy farm that night. The time of the shootings has been placed at about 9 p. m.

Dr. Heil H. Myers, Wilmington veterinarian, testified Collett called him the night of the killings between 10 and 10:30 p. m. about a sick horse.

The following Sunday (two days before Collett was taken into custody for questioning), Myers testified he saw Collett at the home of one of Myers' neighbors in Wilmington.

"He asked me if I remembered if he had called Wednesday night," Myers related. "I told him I did. 'Do you have any idea of what time it was?' Collett asked."

Myers said Collett then added, "no doubt everyone connected with the case will be questioned."

Defense Attorney Charles Kirk then asked Myers directly, "did he say he was going to be questioned?"

Myers answered "he said no doubt everyone would be questioned that had any connection with the family."

James W. Conover, barber at Harveysburg, about four miles from Collett's farm, said Collett got a haircut in his shop between 2 and 3 p. m. the day of the slayings and Sabin McDonald, Harveysburg barber, recalled Collett stopped about 7:30 p. m. to inquire if Charles Doster, a feed merchant, would be open that night.

"I told him he could ask at the garage," McDonald testified.

Marvin L. Chambers, Wilmington service station attendant, testified that on Nov. 24 Collett brought his car in for an oil change and that the speedometer read 11,667 miles.

Chief defense counsel James M. Linton has said he would show that Collett did not cover the 38 miles between the Collett and McCoy farms the night of the slayings.

The state rested late yesterday after using 19 witnesses and two and a half days of testimony during which it hinted Collett would benefit from the deaths of his wife's brother, Elmer McCoy, 39; Mrs. Forrest McCoy, 64, and their daughter, Mildred, 22, but asked permission today to reopen its case.

Chief Counsel James N. Linton told a jury of nine men and three women as the defense opened its

CONFESSED SLAYER RETURNED TO KENTON

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 8—Richard Knight, who 10 years ago pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the hold-up slaying of Loyal W. Bean, Dunkirk grocer, came back to Kenton late Tuesday in his new fight for freedom.

Granted a writ of habeas corpus by the Second district appellate court at Columbus, Knight was freed yesterday and was met at the gates of the Ohio penitentiary by Sheriff Randall R. Clark and Deputy Sheriff Ray Comstock.

Prosecutor Rex W. Hanna said Knight would be taken before Judge Arthur D. Tudor tomorrow to determine if he has counsel. Thereafter the court will decide if Knight's former "guilty" plea should be withdrawn and the prisoner rearraigned, or whether a three-judge court will proceed to hear testimony to determine the degree of guilt.

When arraigned on July 8, 1934, Knight pleaded guilty to first degree murder and asked for mercy. Judge Hamilton E. Hoge, then on the bench of Hardin county common pleas court, heard testimony and sentenced the prisoner. The Franklin county appeals court last week ruled that Knight had been illegally imprisoned in that a three-judge court should have heard evidence and determined the degree of Knight's guilt before sentence was passed.

STRONG FORCE OF BOMBERS IN ATTACK TODAY

350,000 Incendiaries, 10,000 Explosive Bombs Dropped on Nazi Capital.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 8 — Strong forces of U. S. Fortresses and Liberators—possibly 1,100 bombers—set huge fires in Berlin today on the American airforce's fourth visit to the German capital within six days.

More than 10,000 explosive bombs blasted the city. More than 350,000 incendiary bombs set the fires.

From these officially announced figures, the British press association estimated that possibly 1,100 heavy bombers made the trip, escorted by as many fighters.

First reports from the fighters showed they had shot down at least 30 German planes.

One group of about 50 bombers attacked targets at the southwestern edge of Berlin while others braved a great flak barrage over the heart of Hitler's capital.

Light clouds which covered the bombers most of the way to Berlin opened up over the city to disclose the targets.

It was the American heavy bombers' eighth big assault in ten days, and came after only one day's interval since the last heavy attack on the German capital.

A United States air force announcement said:

"Strong forces of B-17 Flying Fortresses and B-24 Liberators of the Eighth air force, escorted by large formations of AAF and RAF fighters, attacked industrial targets in the Berlin district today.

"More than 350,000 incendiary bombs and more than 10,000 high explosive bombs were dropped. It was the fourth operation by American aircraft over the Berlin district within eight days.

First Attack Friday

The American daylight aerial campaign against Berlin started last Friday when Lightning fighters penetrated to the capital. This was followed up Saturday by the Americans' first bomber attack, by one formation.

Monday's big attack was made by a force estimated unofficially as upwards of 650 bombers.

The German radio, as on Monday, reported heavy air battles in progress over northwestern Germany and west of Hannover.

This aerial combat started about 1 p. m., said the radio, about half an hour after the American armada crossed the German frontier.

The attack kept the allies' round-the-clock bombing campaign going uninterruptedly after the RAF's second successive night attack on Nazi railroad centers in France.

During the day swift U. S. Marauder medium bombers joined in the attack on the continent, flying into Holland. They struck unspecified targets in an area where many German air fields have been bombed in the past.

The term "strong force" in the official announcement indicated that fewer bombers were out today than on Monday when the phrase "very strong forces" was used, but today's raiding fleet undoubtedly numbered several hundred. From 300 to 700 bombers have flown in recent American attacks.

Shortly before 5 p. m. (Noon, eastern war time) the German radio acknowledged "American bombers again attempted with strong forces to reach Berlin."

"The execution of this attack was very nearly perfectly similar to the one adopted the day before yesterday," the Berlin radio continued. "A new big defensive success for German air defense is expected."

The first group of escorting Thunderbolt fighters to return reported shooting down 27 Nazi planes.

RAF bombers in a new drive against Nazi railroad centers feeding coastal defenses struck heavily last night against the yards at Lemans, 110 miles southwest of Paris, and again returned without loss.

The night blow followed a day of scissor attacks from south and west on targets in France and Italy.

Lemans, site of a Renault engine plant and a section of the Gnome-Rhone airplane engine works, is in the dead center of the eastern half of France, and is the most convenient tunnel for routing big rail shipments between the northern French coast and the western

Turks Hope To Patch Up Trouble with Britain

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, March 8 — (Delayed) —Turkey was represented today as anxious to go part of the way to patch up her differences with Britain, although the Turkish government still feels that deliveries of supplies have been far below what was promised.

This view of Turkish policy was obtained from participants in a conference of Turkish editors with Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu, who was quoted as saying Turkey planned to do everything in her power to preserve her alliance with Britain.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, March 9

WITH CARE and circumspect conduct along all lines of endeavor and contact this day may culminate in some personal joys or benefits. But a tendency to lax, shiftless or impetuous acts and words may becloud all favorable issues. All writings, correspondence, speech and agreements, spoken or written are under adverse rule and might cause trouble unless cautiously and painstakingly managed. Read documents carefully and have an eye to truth and honesty. In romantic relations there may be thrills and benefit if discretion is exercised.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves beset by a year of treachery, misrepresentation and confusion from all directions unless they place a rigid curb on word, speech and conduct generally, as a proclivity to accomplish cherished desires by tricky, easy or unprincipled actions may prove decidedly regrettable and beget definite penalties. Read all writings, documents or correspondence with exceptional caution. In personal conduct be circumspect.

Don't give way to rash impulses or high nervous tension. Be calm and prudent and there may be alluring events and experiences.

A child born on this day will have need of early training and discipline, being highstrung, impulsive and disposed to gain its ends in the easiest way. It should have the example of sound principle and integrity.

REPUBLICAN WINNER IN COLORADO VOTING

By The Associated Press

DENVER, March 8 — A 59-year-old Republican business man defeated a retired World War II hero for Denver's vacant congressional seat at Tuesday's special election to become this district's first G. O. P. representative since 1932.

Dean M. Gillespie, truck dealer and oil man and avowed foe of government "bureaucracy" received a margin of 2,978 votes over his Democratic opponent, Maj. Carl E. Wuertele, 30, on the basis of unofficial tabulations.

The vote, heavier than had been anticipated, was: Gillespie 41,418, Wuertele, 38,440.

"I think that the results of this election prove that the people are tired of the Democratic New Deal stuff, and that business men are coming awake," Gillespie said in a statement.

Wuertele, holder of the silver star and distinguished flying cross with two oak leaf clusters for action in the south Pacific, wounded and retired, conceded Gillespie's election shortly before midnight.

U. S. OCCUPIES ISLE ABANDONED BY JAPS

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, March 8—The bloodless occupation of an important anchorage and possible air base in the bypassed eastern Marshalls just has been disclosed by the central Pacific command.

The atoll is Majuro, considered so important by the Germans when they owned the islands before the first World war that they made it their major base.

Headquarters now discloses that Majuro was taken early in February, without opposition from its four Japanese occupants, giving the Americans an entering wedge into the eastern Marshalls.

The 21-by-six mile island has a lagoon which can accommodate all classes of warships and a strip of land suitable for building an airfield. Captured intact was a concrete headquarters building, equipped with electric lights. The Japanese left the building virtually completed except for installing windows which were found stacked against the walls.

Noted Organist Coming To Marion for Concert Monday

Plans are nearing completion for the program to be given by Edwin Arthur Kraft, Cleveland organist, Monday evening in the First Presbyterian church, when he appears as a guest artist on the Lecture-Recital club program Assisting on the program will be Mrs. H. D. Brickley, soprano of Akron. Mr. Kraft is organist and choirmaster of Trinity cathedral and director of music, Lake Erie college at Painesville.

One of the best known concert organists in the country, Mr. Kraft has played practically every one of the notable organs in the country.

As organist and choir master of St. Thomas' church in Brooklyn, his natural ability attracted the attention of his rector, who sent him abroad to develop his inherent talent. He went to Berlin in his 21st year, studying the German classics under Franz Grunicke and Edgar Stillman Kelly, the American artist residing in Berlin. Later he went to Paris and in both cities frequently appeared in recitals which attracted the notice of European masters

Upon his return from abroad he held the position of organist and choirmaster at St. Matthew's church in Wheeling, W. Va., and while in that city he organized the Oratorio society. The present reputation of Trinity cathedral choir and music, well known throughout the country, presents a most effective tribute to his ability

Mrs. Brickley is soloist at Grace Reformed church in Akron, directs the American British mixed chorus and the Junior choir of Talmadge Congregational church at Talmadge.

The program will be open to the public for a small admission charge. As on former programs club members and holders of season tickets will be eligible to attend free of charge and non-club members and patrons are asked to purchase tickets from the club members or at Dowler's Music store for 50 cents. No admissions will be taken at the church the evening of the concert, the committee states

CONFERENCES COVER POST-WAR PLANS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 8—Diplomatic machinery to lay foundations for the post-war world has begun rolling, with at least ten international conferences now on the state department calendar or in preparation.

Under-secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius announced yesterday Great Britain and the United States would discuss petroleum questions in Washington soon The projected American pipeline from the Persian gulf to the Mediterranean is expected to loom large in the talks.

Next on the schedule probably will be the United Nations monetary conference under treasury department sponsorship, for which Pinehurst, N. C., has been mentioned as a likely site.

Treasury representatives already have held preliminary talks with the British, Russians, Canadians and several others on the possibilities of establishing an international currency unit and stabilizing world money. "Unitas" and "Bancor" have been proposed as names for the world unit.

Definite plans for the international labor office meeting in Philadelphia on April 20 were announced today. The ILO was set up as an adjunct to the League of Nations and moved its headquarters to Montreal when the war broke out. President Roosevelt now faces the quandary of appointing a labor member for the United States delegation who can represent both the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The United Nations food and agriculture interim commission has about completed its report on a food board, and when the draft has been approved by the member countries, the first meeting of the council will be held The commission was set up by a United Nations conference at Hot Springs, Va., last summer.

Aquamarine

The aquamarine is a blue beryl gem. It gets its name from its color, sea water, and the colorful tints of this lovely gem are very similar to the changing tints of a turbulent sea.

Aquamarines come from Russia, Brazil, Ceylon and from several parts of this country. They are much admired in pendants, brooches, bracelets and other jewelry as well as in rings.

An aquamarine of good blue color is a stone of great beauty and is justly prized by its owner. It is the alternate birthstone for March.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

THEATER USE CRITICIZED

Editor of The Star: In referring to Tuesday's Star, there was a column which gave reports of plans for Holy Week at the Marion theater.

I'm not a Christian boy, but I go to the Baptist church, have a family and am leaving for the Navy soon. It sure doesn't look to me like Jesus would come into a theater and pick out His people, because the theater was never meant for worship, and if there's any fullblooded Christians they won't be there.

Next thing you know you'll be buying a ticket for the service and then the show to follow. It sure is something to fight for.

N. O. BLAIR,
770 North State street.

SPAR Recruiters Coming To Marion

Lt. (j.g.) Carolyn Martin and Dolores Knapp, Y 2c of the Women's Reserve of the United States Coast Guard, will come to Marion Monday for the purpose of procuring recruitment for the SPARS. Headquarters will be at the Chamber of Commerce office at 118 North State street, telephone 6230, and the SPARS representatives will be available to clubs and other organizations for talks.

The young women will come to Marion from Columbus, where both are connected with the Coast Guard Reserve headquarters.

Strongly-armed Partisan bands are established near Sofia, and Bulgarian troops have started a general offensive against them. After one clash in which 150 Partisans were killed, Bulgarian regulars found enough guns and supplies to equip four regiments, and also found a radio station, the dispatch said.

Daylight Challenge

STRATEGISTS and officers of the United States air forces in Britain are asking their countrymen at home as well as the men under their command to take the new daylight challenge to German aviation on faith. The time has come to find out whether Germany's aerial defense has been weakened sufficiently to permit daylight raiding at will.

If United States heavy bombers and their fighter escorts can reach Berlin successfully day after day, holding their losses to reasonable proportions, that will be proof that the battle for aerial supremacy has been won by the Allies. They have proved conclusively their ability to carry out massed raids after dark. They have proved their ability to attack nearby targets in daylight. But they have not proved yet that it is feasible to launch daylight attacks on points as far from their bases as Berlin.

The only way to find out how much Germany's fighted defense has been weakened is to put it to the test: that is the apparent significance of the daylight raids on Berlin. Our losses undoubtedly will be heavy at the beginning, just as they were when the United States air force opened its first operations in Europe. This is a new phase. It is potentially the beginning of a final phase. Americans may take for their own the gratitude once expressed by Prime Minister Churchill to British aviators—"Never have so many owed so much to so few." The victory our airmen are wresting from Germany in the air may save a million lives in the forthcoming invasion by land.

One-Third and Two-Thirds

TRUE to the method of making two confusions grow where only one grew before, President Roosevelt has made the Italian political situation worse with his enigmatic announcement that one-third of the Italian fleet is in process of being turned over to Russia.

While the repercussions are shaking Badoglio, Victor Emmanuel and Propaganda Minister Goebbels, Americans are beginning to wonder what is going to be done with the other two-thirds of the Italian fleet. The issue which has been joined—whether or not Russia is entitled to a third of the Italian fleet for keeps—is as broad as it is long.

If Russia is entitled to one-third, then surely the United States and Great Britain are entitled to the other two-thirds—and for keeps, too. Probably the question would have been let lie if it hadn't been stirred up by the announcement that Russia was going to get a third of the fleet for its own use, but now that it has been stirred up, something obviously must be done about it.

In short, if the naval spoils of a defeated member of the Axis are going to be divvied up, the United States will expect its fair share.

Realism in Finland

AMERICANS who theorize and emotionalize about Finland's delay in dropping out of the war as Germany's ally are inviting a lesson in realism.

It was the first country to illustrate the futility of sympathy as opposed to high explosives; when attacked by Russia, it was given unbounded sympathy, but nothing else.

It was the first country to illustrate the almost universal lack of understanding of the war in Europe; when it was attacked by Russia, the common belief was that Russia and Germany somehow were collaborating for its destruction. Only later was it realized that Finland was maneuvering ground for the forthcoming battle between the Germans and Russians. And only later was it realized that Finland, whatever might be its ideological preferences, would be forced in the showdown to choose realistically between the nations which needed its territory and resources. Russia lost, largely because the Finns had less reason to trust Russians than Germans.

Finland has been a lesson in international relations, not at the level where they are discussed by theorists, but at the level where they are conducted by politicians and militarists—the level of action. If the Finns drop out of the war—if the Turks drop out, or the Bulgars drop out—they will be bought out or forced out.

News Behind the News

Political News Already Called "Babble of Nonsense"; Instances Cited.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 8—The political news usually works itself into a screaming babble of nonsense in a campaign year, but this time, it is starting that way. A sifter for truth and genuineness in issues must find himself already in difficulty.

For a prime instance, Vice President Wallace campaigned loudly through the west against the wolves of Wall Street. He and other left-wing or professedly liberal spokesmen, working their way out through the country, also have joined in a hue and cry against "domestic Fascists" and "international bankers." Apparently they want Mr. Roosevelt's campaign founded on that ground.

The ground is sand. First thought likely to occur to any voter is that if there are now wolves in Wall Street, the administration is responsible for them. The prime promise of the New Deal upon its inauguration 11 years ago was to chase the money changers from that temple. A law was passed and the securities exchange commission was set up to do that job.

Wall Street

Not until Mr. Wallace implied these efforts had been a failure has anyone else suggested the administration has not been controlling the wolves. As a matter of fact, all non-political authorities on national finance will testify unanimously I believe, that few people could have made much money out of the market in recent years. It has not fluctuated enough to enable speculators to win or lose much.

So also with the "international bankers" and the "Fascists." The international bankers have not floated any loans in this war, but if they had, the administration would be responsible.

International Banker

The truth is the only important international banker in this war has been Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, who has loaned and leased, in behalf of his administration, the public monies running into yet finally untold billions. The charge, clearly then, cannot hold even a drop of water as far as I can learn, and is purely pronetic if not phony.

It has been bolstered some by whispers that such and such a government official is a "Morgan" man, implying that the old banking house which formerly floated foreign loans and conducted international affairs, retains its political significance.

But these are all government men, like Under-Secretary of State Stettinius, war Under-Secretary Patterson, except Willkie, the Republican. But at the same time, the whisperers approve Willkie and denounce the others. Does that make sense?

Fascist Talk

The contention that a scheming group in this country is "Fascist" seems just as sandy if you analyze it. Fascism is an Italian governmental method that I have never heard anyone advocate for this country. It calls for the representation of class groups in government through their unionization in "Fasces," a scheme peculiar to Italy—and now dead even there.

The accusation is generally leveled against men in this country who might accurately be called conservative, isolationist, or perhaps many other things. But are they "Fascists?" If they were, the pretended point of the accusation would be they advocate a dictatorship for this country.

Why then are they not called Communists or Nazis, both of which terms represent live dictatorship of either the left or right variety? As currently used, the word seems to have been taken from the Communist language where it is used to describe all opponents, even Democrats.

Even so, if there are real live Fascists loose in this country, the administration is responsible.

Clearly then, is not the false propaganda ground being offered Mr. Roosevelt by his left wingers not only sand, but quicksand for him?

Help for the Road Back

An Army Doctor's Advice on Blindness.

BRIG. GEN. PAUL R. HAWLEY, chief surgeon of the European theater of operations, recently wrote this letter to a father and mother in Pennsylvania to tell them the tragic news that their son had been blinded in the war:

"Your son has had his eyes seriously damaged in the war. On recovering from his wounds and convalescing in the hospital he has been confronted with the fear of blindness, which he has faced with the same manly courage he had when wounded. He has had the most skillful medical and surgical care by American ophthalmic medical officers. Everything possible has been done to save his sight, without success.

"The fear of blindness is a very real and ugly thing. Fear can only be overcome by understanding the thing that causes it. The fear of blindness is the fear of utter darkness, a physical darkness that leads to a darkness of the mind. It is also the fear of restricted activity, of helplessness. It is the fear of a future with loss of earning capacity. It is also a fear of loneliness, of sentimental pity, of being placed by one's friends in a world apart.

"We recognize and understand these fears and overcome them. That is done by training your son to learn to be blind. He is eager to learn and to break his chains. At first he needs help, and this comes from many sources—from our government, from you and from his friends. The government sees to it that he will get the best training available to teach him to read, to type, to walk around unaided, to play games and, particularly, to become experienced in one or more of the many ways a blind person can earn a living, depending upon his capacity; in short to return him to a useful and happy life. This training is done by experienced teachers, many of whom are blind themselves. It can be best done in a sort of school or college where others in the same situation are learning to be blind. Here the stimulus and the guidance of those who are a little farther along the road of independence is one of the greatest advantages of the 'college.' Haphazard and casual training in the home often does more harm than good. The road, at best, is a long one, and to find one's way needs an experienced guide, patience, understanding and hard work.

"Our government provides that guide. Your son will have patience and courage to do the hard work of learning the many necessary things. The understanding will come from all of us.

"THE most important thing you can do when he returns is to treat him as naturally as you can. He does not want pity and sentimentality. He wants to do things for himself, and the sooner he does these the more nearly normal you will all be.

"Training takes a long time and varies with the speed of learning. There will be many periods of depression and at times a feeling of hopelessness and futility. There will be times, too, when he will feel that no progress is being made. This is the experience not only of those who are learning to be blind but is common to all learning processes. It is only a sensation and not a fact. In time he will be independent, useful and, therefore, happy.

"You may rest assured that your government will do everything in its mighty power to restore a fine citizen to a proper pursuit of happiness.

"I am writing this letter to you so that you may better understand your son's problem and assist him in its solution. When he arrives home, greet him as if nothing had happened. Above all, don't embarrass nor discourage him with pity. With your help he will live his life happily.

"I wish for you and for your son all success in your common task of overcoming his injury; and overcome it you can if you refuse to be defeated. He was not afraid when he gave his eyes for his country. You must never let him be afraid while he is getting his vision back through other faculties."

The Problems of Lasting Peace

INSTALLMENT III

Approach to Peace Making

THE authors of this essay who were present can well review what happened after the last war. An armistice was arranged, the enemy surrendered his arms and the 40 Allied and interested nations with 2,000 skilled diplomats met in general conferences at Paris to make peace, not alone with Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, but among themselves as well.

The Armistice lasted for nine long months. During that period the whole world was suspended between peace and war while these thousands of diplomats in daily sessions wrangled and struggled to settle the gigantic problems which had been loosed upon the earth.

The economic clock of the world was slowed down during the long delayed discussions. Instead of releasing the forces of political, moral and economic recovery, the Armistice was a period of social, political and economic degeneration. At the end General Smuts cried out that the damage during these nine months was greater than during the whole four years of war.

Daily during the conference we witnessed the age-old forces of nationalism, imperialism and militarism acting under the direction of subtle diplomacy. We saw the rise of selfish interests, the clash of ideals, of personalities and of ambitions of men. Hate, fear and revenge were ever in invisible presence.

The world had been promised open covenants openly arrived at. There was no time to enlighten the people on each intricate question. It was promised that all nations should participate in making the peace. But every decision was finally made by the five great victorious powers and became a subject first of secret controversy then of compromise.

We saw the Conference degenerate into a gigantic struggle for power. Gradually the spiritual forces of idealism and of justice were driven back. The peace making was, in the end, swept down the terrible stream of intrigue, power politics and conflict. It was wrecked in the whirlpool of hasty compromise and upon the rocks of selfish interest and emotional action.

THE Treaty of Versailles alone comprised 613 paragraphs of which 26 created the League of Nations. It was not the articles which set up the League which brought disaster, it was the 587 other paragraphs.

Out of five thousand years of war an illusion had been built up in the human mind that war could be ended and peace made by signing a piece of paper. The world deluded itself that such a signed paper heralded the dawn of a new day. Especially if it was signed with pomp and circumstances. The shock to the peoples of the world upon awakening to what had been done in haste and in compromise created antagonism to the treaties, even among the Allies. It bred isolationism in every country in the world.

We know now, at least, that hasty documents written at the end of total war have an infernal way of becoming the prospectus of renewed war. It is an illusion that peace has arrived when a document is signed. Peace does not even begin until years afterwards. We must learn that it is the conduct of nations, allied and enemy, over years which counts, not the papers they sign.

But whatever the sins of commission or omission, whatever the mistakes at Versailles, we also should have learned that mortals at "cease firing" cannot appraise the depths of the wounds of the world from total war, or the violences that have been turned loose, nor the direction these violences will take.

Shapes are determined by forces from the war and even long before the war. No one can for years predict their ultimate effect. Men cannot know the changes from ideas and invention to come out of the war. Mortals cannot devise a paper contract in advance which will stand the shocks and the aftermaths of total war.

THE only thing men can be sure of is that after the war there will be profound change. If it were a question only of putting the world back to where it had been it would be hard enough to do. But the world will never be the same again.

Following the last war from these unexpected forces which arose and from the inadequacies of the peace document itself, nations drifted into crisis after crisis and conflict after conflict. The dynamic causes of war, the age-old sores of the wounds of the war itself were not healed. The hastily made treaties themselves at times handicapped the nations of good-will in dealing with these problems. Does anyone believe that this treaty would have been signed five years afterwards? That no abiding successful peace can be written in a few weeks or a few months under these pressures has been proven by the greatest tragedy of modern history—Versailles.

All the unknown shapes of things to come, all this experience of the last total war, and all this need for a healing process and constructive action demand a totally new approach, a new departure from these paths so strewn with failure in the past. From this experience and the evident situation which will confront us, we suggest three conclusions:

First, that no agreement or treaty can be evolved when firing ceases which will hold against its aftermaths.

Second, that a long military armistice to permit negotiation carries enormous degeneration and destruction.

Third, that successful peace cannot be made by general conferences of a multitude of nations with hundreds of statesmen and all their conflicting interests.

We therefore propose: that there be no long armistice and that there be no general peace conference. Instead we suggest in the next installment a wholly new method of making peace.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, March 8, 1934.

Fashions in Politics

Public May Be Tired of Window Dressing: Simple Honesty May Win in '44.

By STANLEY RUKEYSER

THE newly born independence of congress may lift the curse of excessive showmanship from contemporary statesmanship.

A fashion of substituting "window dressing" for deep and lasting convictions on matters of principle has grown up.

It was in evidence some weeks ago when President Roosevelt announced that the "New Deal" shingle was to be withdrawn and a "Win the War" legend substituted.

There has been too much time wasted on leftist and rightest labels, instead of constant devotion to the inner realities of principle in public affairs.

On the Republican side, Wendell L. Willkie was nominated in 1940 presumably because the party thought that in critical times the voter wanted a substantial man of affairs. Instead of capitalizing on his record as head of a large electric utility holding company, Mr. Willkie immediately started to soft-pedal his record and went back to the middle west in an attempt to restyle himself as a Hoosier politician.

Similarly, since votes for congressmen have revealed a conservative swing, the President has tended to shift the emphasis on administration domestic policies. In this connection he has brought into the foreground personalities who seem to symbolize the conservative trend, such as Bernard M. Baruch, John M. Hancock, Leo Crowley and James F. Byrnes, while pushing into the background the New Dealers like Henry Wallace and Milo Perkins.

In view of the obvious evidences of scene shifting and window dressing, the congressional majority is skeptical, so much so that it is disposed to challenge even the constructive Baruch-Hancock post-war blueprint on the ground it would give discretionary power to the executive department.

PUBLIC tastes change in personalities, as well as in other things.

Perhaps the demand for showmanship and dramatic flair in political personalities will abate.

In an earlier period, for example, the late Calvin Coolidge was popular, though not colorful or exciting. By philosophy, he was adverse to one-man leadership in a representative form of government.

Up to now, the opposition party to the New Deal has been handicapped by a mistaken zeal to offer a carbon copy of the personalities and planks of the party in power. It has not yet explored the possibility of public appeal in offering a thorough-going antithesis.

The question of timing is important. The issue is whether the political vogues of the 30's have not already become obsolete. Some make the mistake of overlooking the present and the future and of seeking, instead to re-fight the issues of the campaign of 1932.

Mr. Roosevelt gave a tipoff of his view that such looking backwards was a mistaken policy when he proposed dropping the title, "New Deal." Vice President Wallace, with less sensitive political acumen, differed with his chief as to the desirability of dropping the outmoded label.

A deadlock between the legislative and executive departments in a critical period is none too wholesome. An independent, rather than a rubber stamp congress is good, but perhaps at the coming election voters will be able to make choices which will create more cordiality and harmony in government.

Nothing is permanent in life except change. The politician, like the businessman, should be aware of the risk of failure through offering obsolete models.

Millions of Books

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—About 20 million copies of popular books reduced to pocket size, about 6 million dollars worth of textbooks, and copies of 25 magazines are being supplied by the morale division of the Army Service forces.

The lighter pocket-size books cost only 7½ cents each and weigh only one-sixth as much as regular editions. Many of the textbooks are re-edited and reprinted. Advertisements are deleted and some magazines are printed in miniature on thin paper.

Packets of news magazines are often flown overseas.

American transport planes have flown more than 125,000 casualties from combat zones since Pearl Harbor.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Kindly send me everything you can about schemes to keep us busy after the war is over. I feel sure someone will come out pretty soon with my pet plan and I want to be among the first to wire my congratulations.

I have been studying this thing for a good many years and notice this country always does best when it has a boom in explosives. Everybody gets himself something to do and has a fine time, except the soldiers and sailors who are put to work at small pay shooting off the stuff.

Under my plan, this would be taken to heart and something made of it. The reason the soldiers and sailors don't have any fun is because they are sent away off somewhere to shoot these explosives and are in danger of getting hurt because they also are on the receiving end of the enemy's high explosives. I would change this.

They would stay at home and by a few simple alterations the explosives would be fixed up so they would be no more dangerous than fireworks they set off at the county fairgrounds. Over a long period I have noticed there is nothing which draws a crowd any better than free fireworks. The people are very fond of big explosions and bright lights in the heaven when nobody gets hurt.

But the way it is now, or the way it has been, these displays are saved up for a few big occasions like the Fourth of July, Columbus day and county fairs. With my plan in effect there would be one every night, or however often we needed them to keep things humming. Every village would have special accommodations for putting them on, maybe by using the airports that are being built all over the country.

I do not claim this would do the whole job of keeping everybody busy after war, but it would be a good start. I am not overlooking the fact that it also would stimulate other businesses, such as ice cream, sedatives and also would have an effect on automobiles. Everybody would want a car with a glass top, so they could sit inside and watch the rockets.

I call my plan the Baroop plan and am turning it over to you for what it is worth. Maybe it is not so much, or maybe I am 30 years too soon, but you can't deny that if we found some way to keep everybody busy making and shooting off and watching high explosives without anybody getting hurt we would have something. My plan's secret is that it gets rid of what we make without any fuss, because if we can't shoot off all the stuff ourselves we could lend-lease it to other parts of the world where there is even greater demand for this sort of thing than there is at home.

The sap is running up here and I have made arrangements to get some maple syrup for you from Charley White who runs the sugar camp on the Williams place. Charley is going to sell some of his run through the store here and will make me a good price. Write soon and tell me what you think of my Baroop plan.

RUSSIANS REJECT NEW POLISH OFFER

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 8 — British newspapers said today Russia had rejected the latest Polish compromise offer to settle the Russo-Polish boundary dispute, but Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk declared that his Polish government-in-exile had not been informed about it.

There was strong resentment in Polish circles over reports published by the London press and circulated by diplomats that the Soviets had rejected the plan for a temporary settlement—a proposal which Mikolajczyk described as a British rather than Polish suggestion.

The Poles felt that their government should have been informed if Stalin had refused to agree to the plan transmitted to the Soviets by Prime Minister Churchill.

It was understood here that in rejecting the counter-proposals, the Kremlin reiterated that no understanding would be reached unless certain allegedly "anti-Soviet" elements are eliminated from the exiled government, and the Curzon line is accepted as Poland's eastern boundary.

COLLETT

side of the case, that he would draft a detailed time chart to prove Collett's alibi he was miles from the slaying scene when the McCoys were shot to death last Thanksgiving eve.

Prosecutor Hill told the jury Collett wiped out his relatives to obtain a share of their estate of $83,750 through his wife Laura. Mrs. Collett is heir to half of the McCoy property.

State's Chief Points

The state presented this evidence in support of its contention:

1. A confession in which Collett, a week after the slaying purportedly admitted shooting McCoy to death dulrng an argument over rent money owed Mrs. Collett. Witnesses testified Collett then said his mind went blank and he did not know how the women were killed.

2. Testimony of an FBI firearms expert that the bullet which killed Elmer McCoy and one taken from Mrs. McCoy's body were fired from the same gun, while one removed from Mildred's head had similar characteristics but could not be said definitely to have been fired in the same gun.

3. That Collett asked Police Lt. George Eckerman of Toledo during questioning preceding the confession if he knew of a recent supreme court ruling regarding inheritance in case of death of all members of a family at the same time and whether Eckerman "thought the McCoy estate would go to his (Collett's) wife."

4. Statement of a neighbor that Collett remarked last summer "if it weren't for the McCoy girl his son would fall heir to the McCoy estate." The neighbor, Howard Hurley, said the assertion was made in a discussion of the death last April of Mrs. Martha McCoy, mother of Mrs. Collett and Elmer McCoy.

Scheduled for early introduction as evidence was a deposition of Dr. Elizabeth Shrieves, Collett's family physician, who attended the defendant while he was suffering from two kinds of gland ailments, an internal disorder, arthritis and a spine injury caused by a fall from a hay wagon six years ago. Collett has worn a special plastic neck and chin support since the fall.

The deposition was taken yesterday at the physician's home in Wilmington. She is too ill to come into court.

Linton was expected to use the physician's testimony to support the defense claim that Collett, ailing, sleepless for 48 hours, and without food for 12 hours, made the confession under duress, threats, and influence of promises.

Linton's request yesterday that the court strike from the record the confession and all statements and testimony made about Collett's action and statements from the time of his arrest Nov. 30, until he was arraigned on a first degree murder charge Dec. 4 was denied as was a request for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Also to be called for the defense are Collett's wife and son, Thomas, 29, in an attempt to establish that Collett was either at home or enroute there from Harveysburg four miles from his farm at the time of the slaying. Harveysburg is more than 40 miles from the McCoy farm where the shootings occurred and the Collett farm is 38 miles from the McCoy place.

"SNOBS" DEFINED BY FEDERATION SPEAKER

"The fact that certain nations believe they are a master race has produced a wave of national snobbishness and the present world cataclysm," Dr. Robert B. Whyte, minister of Old Stone church in Cleveland, told members and patronesses of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs Tuesday night in the First Presbyterian church. His subject was "Snobs."

After tracing the history of the word "snob" from the fourth century when it referred to "aniveleers," or persons always complaining and filled with self pity, to its present interpretation, Dr. Whyte discussed the social snob, the religious snob, the political snob and the Christian snob. The first named is found in all ranks of life, he said, describing the present day type as a person who puts birth, money or rank above actual worth. "Sociology teaches us that no credit or blame belongs to birth but that a man's position depends upon his worth," he said. In Boston, the speaker said, they say "what does he know?" in New York "what is he worth" and in Philadelphia "who is he?"

It is a great tribute to democracy when a country chooses its leaders for their ability and contribution to its welfare, he said, and gave as illustration the elevation of Lincoln, whose surroundings were humble, and President Roosevelt, whose life has been one of wealth and luxury, to the highest office of the country. Dr. Whyte classified the religious snob as one who sees good only in his own denomination and described the attitude as pharisaical.

Warning his audience that "they might not like his statement," Dr. Whyte said no person should be proud of the fact they had always voted for the same party and that no party is worthy of controlling the entire opinion, in defining the political snob. There are three sides to a question, he pointed out, my side, your side and God's side. "When we find out what God's side is that is the real one," he said. No Christian can be a snob he declared.

To open the meeting the audience sang the National Anthem and Dr. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, presented the speaker. Preceding Dr. Whyte's address Mrs. Harry T. Williams played a 15-minute organ program. Decorations included baskets of gladioli and the Christian and American flags. A good sized audience attended.

Indian Situation Better, but Still Reported Serious

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Appearance of specially trained American troops under colorful Brigadier General Frank Merrill, alongside our Chinese colleagues on the battlefield in the devil-haunted, fever-ridden jungles of Burma, gives us an even more intimate interest in the great offensive which is boiling up against Japan from the allied base in India.

Also it's a reminder that another report on the famine and the political crisis in India is due in this column, since that country is Uncle Sam's base for southeast Asia. My big inch pipe-line brings both good news and some that's not so pleasant.

First off, the terrible famine conditions have been vastly relieved. Having said this, we find a difference of opinion as to the exact extent of the relief. One Indian source says that despite great improvement people still are dying from hunger. A British official quarter tells me there's now food so that all may eat, although deaths continue from famine diseases and from malnutrition contracted during the foodless days.

Situation Is Better

Anyway, it's agreed that things are immeasurably better. The great province of Bengal, just across the Bay of Bengal from Burma, has been brought back from a veritable valley of death. There an uncounted host perished, the number being estimated by many observers at hundreds of thousands. Bumper crops and imported food have halted the plague of hunger.

That's mighty important, not only from the humanitarian viewpoint but for military reasons. Big American and British headquarters are in Bengal—not a healthful atmosphere, in view of the famine diseases which swept the province.

The central government took over control of all distribution of food in the great city of Calcutta where the death rate was appalling. People who fled from their foodless countryside to the metropolis were moved back by the military, an operation that gave rise to a curious situation. Many of these primitive natives at first were panic stricken when the army lorries appeared to carry them away. They thought they were going to be slaughtered.

Leaders Are Jailed

The political crisis between the British government and the Indian Nationalists—outgrowth of the home-rule quarrel—appears to be deadlocked. The question of granting dominion status to India has been shelved for the duration of the war—and he would be a daring prophet who predicted that the shelving wasn't indefinite.

Mahatma Gandhi, and some 19 other leaders who comprised the high command of the All India Congress, remain in confinement where they have been since the anti-government disturbances and bloodshed of late 1942. I'm informed that there they will stay until they give guarantees there will be no further trouble if they are released.

Many other natives, of course, are locked up for anti-government activities. These run into the thousands, at least 4,000 of them having been involved in the 1942 troubles.

A government source assures me that things are well in hand and that there's no fear of further disturbances. That sounds like a correct estimate of the position.

The Nationalist answer is that the situation is breeding bitterness which may react against the western world in post-war days. As I have reported previously, the Indian crusaders for independence have hooked their chariot to the Atlantic charter and the four freedoms, and are asking whether these declarations apply to orientals as well as to the west.

BERLIN RAID

France was brought under double attack yesterday, with Lightning-escorted Flying Fortresses from the U. S. 15th air force striking at Toulon naval base in the south, and medium bombers from Britain raiding northern France. Liberators attacked Nazi airfields and railway installations near Rome, and Mitchells and Marauders bombarded freight yards in Rome in the sixth allied raid on that capital.

Lemans is a main line rail junction between Paris and the great ports of Brest and Nantes. Canadian bombers participating in the assault reported only light flak defenses.

It was the second straight night that the RAF had lost no raiders.

Photographs of the Toulon raid showed hits in the munitions factory area and several hits on the drydocks. War vessels anchored along a jetty were believed to have been damaged.

Twenty-five enemy fighters tried to intercept the Fortresses and their escorting Lightnings 10 minutes from the target. Four Nazi planes were downed in the battle, and none of the American ships was lost.

Swift U. S. Marauder bombers struck unspecified targets in Holland today. RAF, dominion and allied fighters gave them escort.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Speed, experience, height and consistent scoring ability characterize the 1944 all-North Central Ohio conference basketball team, selected Monday night by the league's sports writers and announced today.

The first team of the honorary squad is strictly a senior class proposition and four of the five men on the second team are twelfth graders. Dan Benham, Bucyrus High school forward, who gained second team recognition, is a junior. All first team men are 17 years old, three equal or exceed the six-foot mark in height with the other two, Ted Jacobs and Jack Harris of Ashland in the five-foot-11 class.

Ashland, winner of the 1943-44 N. C. O. crown, with nine victories and one defeat, dominated first five pickings with three players, Bucyrus with Forward Jack Shuck and Marion Harding with Rex Kilbourn, placed at a guard, rounded out the top-flight quintet.

Stewart Young, Harding senior, won a second team guard berth, and Fritz Guy, President junior, was given honorable mention as a forward. Young was placed on the first team of the all-N. C. O. football squad chosen last fall by scribes.

Three Are Unanimous

Three cagers were unanimous first team selections—Jacobs and Harris of Ashland, and Jack Shuck of Bucyrus. These three were the league's top scorers for the 1943-44 campaign with Jacobs finishing first with a record-breaking 229 total, Harris winding up second with 174 and Shuck notching 146 to finish third. Jacobs' total was 39 points above the former mark of 190 set by Marion's Dick Mulvaine last season. Harris was rated as one of best playmakers and floor men in N. C. O. history. Shuck added this basketball distinction to mythical laurels captured during the 1943 grid campaign. He was a first team all-N. C. O. end and was placed on the second eleven of The Associated Press all-Ohio grid selections.

Considerable discussion revolved around selection of center for this year's outfit. There didn't seem to any noticeable difference between the season-long play of Herb Poland of Shelby and Russ Geisinger, Ashland's six-foot-four pivot man. The nod finally went to Geisinger. Both scored around 10 points a game. Harding's Kilbourn gained the first team mainly on the strength of his brilliant late-season performances in crucial contests. In the battle two weeks ago against Ashland, Kilbourn led Harding with 22 points on ten baskets and two free throws. However, Ashland won the game, 67 to 58, and the title by a margin of a full game. Kilbourn showed up well in the Prexies' first and last 1944 district tournament game with Newark at Delaware last week. He was high scorer for both teams as he made 12 points. He completed the league season, including the one tourney tilt with 87 points in 10 games to rank as number one President point-getter. He played the entire season at a forward position but was shifted to guard for the honorary team.

No Individual Stars

Largely accounting for the relatively poor representation of Harding on the all-league team this year is the fact that the 1943-44 Prexies were without an outstanding star like the Dick Mulvaines and Gene Shellhorn of past Dewey Bohyer-coached fives. The N. C. O. scribes classified the Presidents as a "rugged, well-balanced team with plenty of power as a unit with any one of their men capable of playing fine ball although there were no consistent individual stars among the group."

The only repeaters on the 1944 team were Jacobs and Harris, who were all-leaguers last year as juniors.

The team was chosen Monday night at the Talbot hotel in Galion where sports writers met for their annual winter session. League coaches, principals, and other officials met at the same time in Galion for their regular basketball confab. The two meetings originally were scheduled for last Tuesday night but were postponed because of the slating of the Harding-Newark tournament game for that night.

Michigan Almost Certain To Take Big 10 Track Title

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 8—Michigan's well-balanced track team, almost certain of bundling a major share of points in at least eight of the 12 events, is an overwhelming choice to repeat as the Big Ten indoor champion at the University of Chicago fieldhouse Saturday.

Although not considered an especially strong threat for the title, Illinois is well equipped to grab second place, mostly through the efforts of its sensational freshman, Buddy Young.

On the basis of his showing this season, Young should become a "triple winner" as well as the only record breaker. He is expected to take firsts in the broad jump, 60-yard dash and 70-yard low hurdles in view of his record of setting marks in those specialties this season, which have been unsurpassed by other Big Ten athletes.

Young is a definite threat to break the broad jump standard which Iowa's Lee Fargher posted in 1942 with a leap of 23 feet 9¼ inches. Young already has sprung 24 feet 4¼ inches in indoor competition.

He also may equal the 60-yard dash record of :06.1, set in 1935 by Jesse Owens of Ohio State. This clocking is accepted as the world's best, and Young has accomplished it at least three times this winter.

Only approach to a Big Ten record which appears possible is in the 440, with Michigan's Bob Ufer, one of three defending champions to return, seeking to break his own mark of :48.1 set two years ago. His best time this season is :49.6.

The other two defending titlists are John Schmidt of Ohio State in the pole vault and Ross Hume of Michigan in the mile. Schmidt has the top vault of the season, 13 feet 3 inches, but Ross Hume has been beaten by his twin brother, Bob, in the mile. Ross, who has posted the best 880 time in the conference with 1:59.6, has turned the mile in 4:18.8, while Bob's time of 4:15.9 is tops among Big Ten milers.

O. S. U. Places 2 on All-Big Te Basketball Team To Lead Fiel

Ages ranged from Danner's 18 to 21 for Ohio State's sensational sophomore, Don Grate, and 22 for Northwestern's Otto Graham. Hoffman and Grate, high-sco[illegible] ing forwards for their respecti[illegible] teams, were necessarily shifted [illegible] guards on the All-Star lineup.

Word from Baseball Front

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 8 — With the start of spring training less than a week away baseball activity has picked up everywhere.

Yesterday for instance, came news that Bob Klinger, right handed pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Dick Bartell, veteran shortstop of the New York Giants, had passed their pre-induction physical examinations while Joe Gordon, star second sacker for the champion New York Yankees, had been called for his exam March 16 at Portland, Ore.

On the other hand Dixie Walker, star outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was rejected for military service because of an old shoulder and elbow injury.

Here are the latest developments:

CONGRESS' ECONOMY DRIVE UNDER WAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 7 — Congress' newest economy drive got underway today as the senate appropriations committee recommended a $91,235,000 slash in the funds requested by 34 agencies in the first deficiency supply bill of 1944.

Committee action left the total proposed new appropriations at $50,103,746.

Biggest cuts by the committee were $22,500,000 from $150,000,000 requested by the federal works agency for community facilities; $17,500,000 from the $25,000,000 sought by the national housing agency for war housing construction; and rejection of a request for $39,436,884 for restoration of the capital impairment of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The committee turned down requests for transfers of $26,945,000 in funds previously appropriated and for contract authorizations of $10,000,000.

The committee reduced from $130,000,000 to $120,000,000 the Navy's request for authorization to construct additional repair yards. It granted the full $50,000,000 sought by the veterans' administration for construction of hospital facilities after hearing Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines declare that by 1975, a peak load of 300,000 beds would be filled by 207,000 veterans of this war and 91,400 veterans of past wars.

TAFT WARNS AGAINST CRIPPLING TAXES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., March 7 — Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) warns that the federal government must not allow private enterprise to be bogged down with taxation after the war.

Returning to his native state to open a campaign for a second term, Taft addressed the Sales Executive club of Cleveland yesterday and predicted a necessary postwar annual federal budget of $18,000,000,000, including $6,000,000,000 interest on a $300,000,000,000 national war debt, $5,000,000,000 for the Army and Navy, a like sum for peacetime governmental departments and $2,000,000,000 for veterans' care.

"The government must see to it in some way, however, that the whole spirit of private enterprise is not bogged down with taxation," the senator declared.

Taft asserted "we can not lower by very much, if any, the personal income tax," and advocated repeal of the capital gains tax, lowering of the corporation tax, and "doing away with either the corporation tax or the tax on stockholders of corporations, since they are now doubly taxed.

"We must retain in our tax system an incentive for people to go ahead with production," he added.

The senator said public works should be used for needed improvements rather than only to create employment.

He indorsed "a reasonable form of medical care and hospital service" through a system of state organizations operating with federal assistance, and a similar means of financing old age pensions and housing improvements.

Waterworks Repairs Proposed at Galion

GALION, March 8—City Council adjourned Tuesday night after a short meeting to meet next Tuesday night to consider the water works improvement plans which have been approved by the Ohio state board of health.

At this meeting council will also give consideration to changing Galion time. The city is now operating on slow time, while several surrounding towns have changed to fast time. The confusion which this causes workers from other towns coming into Galion, and those from Galion employed in other cities, was brought to council's attention last night by M. West who operates a bus between Galion and other cities for employes.

OHIO PRISON WORK ON 2-SHIFT BASIS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 8—Ohio's prisons, their populations smallest in years, have gone on a two-shift work day to fulfull their war production contracts, Welfare Director Herbert R. Mooney reported today.

The number of inmates in the four prisons for adults decreased from 8,753 on Jan. 1, 1941, to 7,449 the first of this year and Mooney and Warden Frank D. Henderson of Ohio penitentiary attributed the drop principally to absorption of men by the armed forces and also to better employment opportunities.

Said Henderson: "A certain percentage of the population always gravitates toward prison. During depressions this percentage increases; during boom times it decreases. But advanced penal methods also are cutting down the percentage—repeaters' are getting fewer."

The dwindling supply of men is hurting the London prison farm's war work, Supt. William F. Amrine said, but so far food production there has not been affected seriously.

World War II has not affected the number of inmates at the state reformatory for women, but it has changed the type of prisoner," Mooney said.

"The women being sent to Marysville today are not so clean," he said. "In fact they are of a decidedly low character. Many more now are being sent there for contributing to delinquency."

But inmates of the penitentiary, prison farm, Mansfield reformatory and Marysville reformatory have won national service pennants awarded by the war production board.

They also have donated 7,865 pints of blood to Red Cross blood plasma bank and have purchased $75,000 worth of war stamps and bonds.

SONGBIRD. Nineteen-year-old Dale Belmont (above) of Concord, Mass., won so much notice with her singing in New York that she now has a contract to appear in film musicals.

"Summer at the Seagull" is a play in three acts by Sally Harrison. The story tells of a summer theater school and the madcap doings and gay repartee of stage struck youngsters who live in another world when they are in the midst of a play.

A variety of roles for girls ranges from Mrs. Lawrence Pendleton, dowager and New England aristocrat to Susan Sylvester, 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. Abby Sylvester, keeper of Seagull Inn, and includes Judy Jerome, famous movie star. For the boys the roles range from Captain Elkanah Cobb, old sea captain and keeper of the lighthouse to Sam Sylvester, 16-year-old cub reporter for the Beacon.

Costumes will be modern and will be supervised by Miss Pauline Stannard. Miss Marian Conley will supervise makeup, publicity and programs will be in charge of Miss Ruth Turner and Miss Josephine Morris, and Miss Isabelle Stump will be in charge of ushers. Tickets will be distributed to seniors by a committee directed by Miss Winnie Winder and J. H. Smith will be in charge of reservations. John Bryans, class of '43 is designing the set, and L. E. Welch, who made the sets for former class plays, will be in charge of the construction of the set.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only positive cure. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

INSPECTION SESSION HELD BY COMPANY H

All Members and Numerous Guests Present.

Co. H made a valiant effort to retain first place in the Second Regiment of Ohio State Guard when it assembled at the Armory last night with every member present for the federal inspection conducted by Capt. Donald Caldwell. The inspection of personnel started at 7:30 and was followed by a review of all phases of training used since the last camp period.

Official rating will not be known until later, Capt. Caldwell said, but during an address to the members he said he could find very little wrong with the Marion unit.

Capt. Caldwell now at Camp Campbell, Ky., is a former member of the 166th Infantry. Following the drill period he spoke briefly to the company and told them the need for the guardsmen is still great and he urged all to work increasingly hard to prepare themselves for any future emergency.

Visiting battalion and regimental officers present for the inspection were: Col. Earl W. Brannon, regimental commander; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Albert C. Rankin, battalion commander; Capt. Chester Stevens, commander of headquarters and service in Columbus; Capt. Russell Rine regimental adjutant; Lt. Col. William Drake, regimental executive officer; Lt. E. E. McDowell, regimental intelligence officer, and Sgt. Carl Mehrle of headquarters staff. Major Robert Melby, former Co. D member now on leave after overseas service, and Capt. Richard Fogle, brother of one of the members, were also present. Capt. Paul Gatton, commander of Co. F in Delaware, where the inspecting officer visited the previous night, arrived in time to watch the final demonstration.

A dinner for the officers held at Hotel Harding preceded the evening inspection. Present were: Capt. and Mrs. Caldwell, Col. Brannon, Lt. McDowell, Major Melby, Drs. Thomas Sutherland and Frank Thomas, local medical examiners, and Capt. Carl Ebert, Lt. Elmer E. Smith and Lt. Dale Price, Co. H officers.

Last night's drill was the final appearance for three more of the local members, Pfc. Francis Layton, Pfc. John Reidel and Pvt. Kermit Lawrence will leave next week for military training.

TELEVISION IS READY, ROTARY SPEAKER SAYS

Coming After the War, General Electric Representative Says.

Carl Keller of Cleveland, representative of the General Electric Co. was guest speaker at the Rotary club's weekly meeting yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. Talking on the subject "Electronics," he said that in spite of the popular opinion that electronics are new, the use of electronic control dates back some 60 years.

He told of the various branches where electronic control had been used and said many improvements have been in use during the war but cannot be made public until after peace comes.

In 1941 television had emerged from its experimental stage and was ready to be offered to the public, but outbreak of the war postponed it being marketed, he said. He reported that improvements have continued and after the war television will be offered in a practical form to the world.

BUYING KEEPS PRICES MOVING

List Performs Fairly Consistently; Some Profit Selling Develops.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 8—Continued broad buying of steels, motors and rubbers highlighted today's stock market and prices of leaders generally moved up fractions to around a point.

Action of the list was fairly consistent from the start, but a considerable expansion in volume in the early proceedings pointed to a steady flow of profit selling based on yesterday's sizable advance.

Issues attaining new highs for the year included General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, and Du Pont. Among other gainers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Western Union.

MARION GETS CAP SQUADRON

Organization's Status Raised; Headquarters in Army Recruiting Office.

Marion has been given a squadron rating in the Civil Air Patrol organization with Lieut. W. R. Reichenstein named as squadron commander, CAP officials announced today. Formerly, the members here were organized as a Flight of the Galion Squadron. Galion retains its squadron rating under the command of Lieut. Eric Brooke.

The Marion squadron will set up a new staff of officers, and its activities include a recent assignment to operate the Marion Army Recruiting office in the basement of the postoffice on a part-time basis. The CAP will maintain office hours there from 7 to 9 p. m. on Mondays, Thursdays and Wednesdays, with Sgt. Mary Beltz, dividing her time between Marion and Mansfield, spending Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at the office.

The CAP has moved its headquarters to the Army Recruiting office room No. 15 in the basement of the postoffice, and one of its first special activities there will be to give a mental examination Friday night at 7 o'clock for aviation cadet applicants from Marion and nearby counties. Young men between the ages of 17 and 26 may take the test. They are required to present at the time of taking the test three letters of recommendation, birth certificates and two completed application forms. Blanks may be obtained at the office.

ALL GRAIN PRICES TURN EASIER TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 8—Paced by rye, which dropped more than a cent at one time, all grains turned easier today. The market was steady at the start in sympathy with strength of securities and cotton, but the failure of buying demand to develop was disappointing to grain men. Pit traders who had bought in early dealings sold out later in the session.

Flour business was dull, the wheat crop was reported as improving under favorable weather conditions and prospects grew for a heavy movement of grain from Canada with an early opening of Great Lakes navigation. William McArthur, director of the Commodity Credit Corporation's grain division, said wheat supplies are sufficient to prevent flour or bread rationing.

YOUR HEALTH

Speech Patterns

"IT TAKES about two years for a baby to learn to talk and from fifty to seventy-five years to keep its mouth shut." This is the latest addition to the list of immortal American epigrams. Who is responsible for it? I have seen it ascribed to "Town Talk" of Denver.

Besides the wisdom in it, there is the statistical fact that speech begins on the average at about the age of two. Between the ages of two and four rapid strides are made, every month showing advance over the previous month. After four the rate of improvement slows down. By the time the child reaches the first grade his speech in major aspects is similar to that of an adult.

Speech must naturally wait on other phases of brain development. At birth the hearing centers are almost completely undeveloped. It takes a loud noise to wake a baby. Sight at first is confused, hardly more than light, darkness and large contured objects are distinguished, and probably the baby sees everything upside down.

The baby learns that some sounds command attention—to get food when it is hungry. So it cries or mutters and food is brought. Here—"a boy's best friend is his mutter" — (acknowledgements to Mr. F. P. Adams, on "Information Please").

But at about two to two and a half years, the preliminary groundwork for speech has been laid down in the nervous system. The cells and fibers of the hearing center are mature, and the baby realizes that sounds, including the speech of adults, mean something. The vision of the eyes is fused and turned right side up and his world is full of objects for which he wants a name.

Imitation is the baby's method of learning to talk. This imposes a great obligation on parents. Imitative speech certainly sticks. I suppose that even in such a dim distant future as when Mr. Roosevelt is no longer President of the United States, children from Georgia, will be pronouncing "air," "sun," and children from Massachusetts will be pronouncing the way they do (which cannot be indicated by print). The speech troubles that bother some parents all come from imitation—swearing, slurring, slang. They are not really troubles, they simply show the baby is alive—alert.

Delayed speech is probably the commonest real worry of parents. Organic defects—deafness, mental deficiency—are rare as causes. Common are environmental situations; such as:

Bilingualism—Children who are brought up in a bilingual household and try to learn two languages are, unless excessive care is exercises, backward in both.

Lack of chance to learn—The way a child talks is the third most important thing in his life, after vision and hearing. Parents should take the utmost pains to speak slowly, distinctly and simply.

Lack of motivation—Older people understand what little the child says, so he has no reason to enlarge his speech. When thrown with children its own age, this is changed.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"I MEAN this," I amended hastily as Jim looked at me with a bewildered look upon his face, which was not reflected in that of his wife. Katie's quicker wits already had grasped what I was going to say.

"Is there anything about the farm-work," I went on, "—that part of it with which Katie is helping—which could not be postponed for a day or two?"

Jim considered for a second or two, and it seemed to me for a fantastic second that I almost could see the wheels of his brain revolve.

Nothing Pressing

"No, ma'am," he said at last, "there ain't nuthing pressin'. I kin get along without Katie fine, that is, except she likes to feed the chickens and the ducks and the turkeys herself."

"Dot my job," Katie put in proudly. "I let boys and Faith coom along sometimes, cause I always show dem shoost how I do eet. Den, eef I get sick sometimes, dot Junior and Rod, dey could take care of hens shoost same as me. And dot Faith so-o cute gathering eggs. I no gif oop taking care of hens and dooks and turkeys, but I kin do dot and vatever you vant in house, too."

"I am sure you can, Katie," I said warmly, for I knew it would be of no use to try to detach Katie from the care of the poultry, even if it were necessary. "But here is my problem. Major Grantland and his friend will be here for several days—hidden in my father's suite. They will not come out of it, and nobody save the Ticers, Charlie Kent, and perhaps the doctor, must know they are here.

More Work

"This, of course, will mean more work in the house," I went on, "and I may have to go away for a day. I do not know yet. But I shall need Katie in the house, if it is possible to have her."

"Sure ting, eet possible," Katie said grandly with an eloquent wave of her hand. "Me, I no go outdoors again except to feed my schickens until dees mess fixed oop. Now vot you vant me and Jeem do first ting?"

I had my answers ready, for I had been laying my plans since Hugh had told me of the necessity for pretending to that suspicious character, Shumway, the taxi man, that Hugh and Lee Chow had departed from the farmhouse.

"I have to go over to the Ticer farmhouse right away," I told them, "and I don't want to be seen, if I can help it. Jim, can you bring the farm truck up to the kitchen door where nobody from the road can see it? I'll get in it there, and you can take me over to the back door of the Ticer house. Then I'll ask you to go in and see if the coast is clear, and if it is I'll go in and talk with Mrs. Ticer for a little. As soon as I've finished, you can bring me back here."

Truck

"Okay," Jim said, getting to his feet. "I'll bring the truck around right now."

He went out and Katie rose and faced me.

"Vot my job?" she asked. "Kin I finish dose dishes first?"

I knew what the question signified—a suppressed sulking if I did not agree. For Katie, a super housekeeper, hates taking up a second task before she has finished a first. I took a stealthy look at my wrist watch, knew that I could solve the problem without conflict.

"I have time to finish the dishes, Katie," I said. "Let me show you what I want you to do right away."

"You no need do dem dishes," she protested, but as I started toward the laundry where she had taken the dripping clothing of Hugh Grant land and Lee Chow, she followed docilely after me. "wait," I told her. "And you don't need to wash or clean these suits and overcoats. But they must be dried and pressed as quickly as possible. What is the quickest thing you can do to get them in shape so they can be worn? They won't have to be seen only inside a car."

Fancy

"Den dey don't ned to be teesed oop fancy?" she queried.

"No, not at all; just don't have them too shapeless."

Katie put her hands on her hips and surveyed the shapeless, still dripping garments.

"First ting, I wring all dot vater oudt," she said reflectively. "Den I string lines over dose registers, and hang dose coats and tings over the lines. Den the hot an dry dem oudt. But I vatch dem and I don't let dem qvite dry. Ven dey shoost a leetle damp left, I take hem oft and press dem. I'll bet dey look mighty goot."

"I'm sure they will, Katie," I assured her; then, as I turned back to the kitchen, I uttered a little exclamation of dismay, because of the waiting dishes I had promised Katie to finish.

"There's Jim now," I exclaimed, "ready to go to the Ticers! I didn't dream he'd be here so soon."
